Russia permits single moms as well as married couples to adopt internationally. Boys are often more readily available for adoption than girls. Many sibling groups also wait in Russia for their forever families. The wait for girls can take longer than for boys, but girls are certainly a possibility.

The travel and paperwork for Russian adoption can be arduous, but you can be sure that your child waits for you at the end of your Russian adoption journey.

EuroAsian Adoption Consultants of Illinois is fully staffed and licensed to handle your Russian adoption process in the state of Illinois. Our adoption services include adoption home study, parent education, Illinois DCFS adoption requirements and US Immigration requirements for international adoption. EAAC has been licensed as an Illinois adoption agency since 1997.

Once the international adoption process is complete and your child has come home, EAAC remains a part of your family, helping you to complete the post adoption process and advising you of adoption resources available to you in Illinois.

European Adoption Consultants (EAC) is our partner agency in placing children from Russia in Illinois. EAC/EAAC RESPONSIBILITIES

Alex's Angels is a program designed to assist families in adopting older children and children with special needs from Russia and Kazakhstan. This program also allows for reduced fees, dramatically decreasing the overall expenses associated with adopting internationally. Due to the ready availability of these children, the entire process is generally much faster than other programs.

Our goals for this program are as simple as a child's desire for a family: Help these children find homes through a program that focuses on them! Many of the special needs children, available in the program, suffer only from minor and correctable conditions that can be corrected with the proper medical attention. Unfortunately, this medical attention is not an option in the orphanages.

Our experienced staff is available to answer any questions you may have, assist you with the dossier paperwork, and, most importantly, bring a child home quickly!
